

A grayscale map of Alaska is shown in the background. A dark line, representing a proposed pipeline route, starts in the north-central part of the state and extends southwards, following a path that roughly parallels the coast of the Yukon and Kuskokwim peninsulas.

Alaska State Right-of-Way Application for the Alaska Natural Gas Transportation System

Volume 3 of 3

Alaskan Northwest Natural Gas Transportation Company
June 2004